We should all save trees, because trees make paper. It's wasted badly in our society. If you're going to read at night, you should use "energy saving" light bulbs. They use less energy, it would make a big Difference. Solar panels are another way to go. Its renewable energy from the sun, could help us save so much, as a community too. Most people consider it "lame", but it's not. Back to the idea of using solar powered energy", you pay less and save more, think about it.

Books- If you don't need them, recycle! Donate them to a nearby library or hand them over to someone who would need them. Sharing is caring, it helps our community, and therefore you are contributing to our constitution. To those who are reading this, note that our planets' achievements are dimming the earth's destruction. Hopefully this shows you our planet's abilities, slaying green while reading makes for a much better-much stronger world. Before you think about not recycling, think of our planet, and all others out there. People need to do their share, it'll make for a cleaner, much prettier home for us all.

Trees make the oxygen we breathe. Recycle or donate your books. Usually books are recycled and turned into something we can use in plants, that makes it environmental. So speak up, show one another just how much you care, for our planet's beauty. Take that first step, and start recycling. '

For my conclusion, I've only listed some of our major problems. Ways we can contribute more to our society, community, and our constitution. Make for a better life, present and future!

THANK YOU!
